THE BERENSTAIN BEARS DVD series

30 min P 2011 NoDup

The Berenstain Bears DVD series. The Berenstain Bears are a fictional family of anthropomorphic bears created by Stan and Jan Berenstain in a series of children's literature. The family consists of Papa Bear, the woodworker father; Mama Bear, his homemaker (and sometimes small-business-owner) wife; and their three children: Brother Bear, Sister Bear, and Honey Bear. Stories are set in Bear Country, a society composed entirely of bears. Storylines typically follow the Bear family as they deal with topics relevant to both children and parents. Each Bear's role in the family is well defined. Brother, the older sibling, is controlling and protective of Sister and also more cautious in his manner. Sister, as the younger sibling, is more laid-back, energetic and free spirited. Mama typically is the source of wisdom and knowledge. Papa, while also being wise at times, is more bumbling and clumsy in his demeanor. Both Brother and Sister are susceptible to making "poor decisions", particularly in situations that are likely to be faced by children in their age (and sometimes gender-) groups. Sister has, at times, been portrayed as "the more responsible one"; however, the Bears overall are quite mercurial, and character traits tend to be fairly unique to each given story.

Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas 003128,VH

VHS video
52 min PJI 2006 NoDup

Every Who down in Who-ville like Christmas a lot ... but the Grinch who lived just north of Who-ville ... did NOT. So the cuddly as a cactus Grinch tries to wipe out Christmas for the cheerful Who-villians, only to discover: Maybe Christmas doesn't come from a store. Maybe Christmas means a little bit more. Magnificently narrated by Boris Karloff and animated by cartoon legend Chuck Jones. Also includes "Horton Hears a Who!": a big-eared elephant named Horton protects the tiny inhabitants of Who-ville and proves "a person is a person no matter how small".

23 min PJI 2006 NoDup

A magnificent production that offers a fresh, new way to recapture the meaning and mystery of the Christmas Story. This colourful, clay-animated DVD of "The First Christmas" is narrated by Christopher Plummer. It tells the traditional story of the birth of Jesus, beginning with Mary and Joseph's trip from Nazareth to Bethlehem. We witness their encounter with the innkeeper who "has no room for them", but provides shelter in a stable where Mary gives birth. We see the announcement to the shepherds and follow the Magi who trek across the desert guided by the mysterious star. Students will recognize traditional carols: Silent Night, We Three Kings, Joy to the World, O Come All Ye Faithful, and O Little Town of Bethlehem.

This video is ideally suited for preparation for FIRST EUCHARIST, and EASTER, but is no less effective for use in all levels of religious education dealing with Eucharist. The powerful themes of family, tradition, friendship, and resurrection are viewed. The story begins in a grocery store where Nonna and her grandson Mario are shopping for ingredients for Easter Bread. As Nonna and Mario work on the bread, Nonna tells Mario a little of what being an immigrant to this country was like and how their Church family helped them to adjust to a new way of life. Baking this bread is clearly a spiritual ritual for nonna, who invokes God's love and utters brief prayers as the different ingredients are added to the dough. Mario works alongside Nonna and promises to hold on to this Easter bread tradition, even when he grows up.

We visit with a farmer, a dentist, a fireman, police officer, doctor, Canada Post worker, and a garbage collector. Each person describes their job and tells why it is vital to the community. Students are also given health and safety tips from the various professionals. They discuss important safety tips such as when to call 911, don't play with matches, and staying away from open flames. Our dental hygienist gives a brief overview of correct brushing and flossing techniques. Our two hosts also learn the importance of taking an interest in your own community. They discuss being responsible and helping out when you can whether you do it by yourself or with a group of friends.

This big book explains the process for growing pumpkins. The narrator, a young girl, describes how she and her brother first turn the soil and dig rows for the seeds that are then planted. With water and sunlight, the seeds grow roots, shoots and vines. Watering and weeding are done weekly, until buds bloom into flowers. Tiny pumpkins grow bigger until the fall, when they are cut off the vine. The children take the pumpkins home, where their parents help carve them into Halloween jack-o-lanterns. Then the children put on costumes and go trick-or-treating.

Learning About Your Community. Grades 1-2. 1 DVD and 1 CDROM. People, buildings and land - all combine to form a community. The first communities, groups of people living in the same area, were started by early pioneer families. Although pioneer communities looked very different from communities today, modern communities also look different from each other. All communities old or new, large or small - have people, sometimes from different parts of the world. All communities have buildings - places to live, work, go to school, etc. Big cities (urban areas) are divided into small communities and neighbourhoods. Towns and villages are smaller than big cities. People living in farming communities live in rural areas and often travel to nearby towns or cities to work or shop. Segments: Introduction; What Is A Community?; How Are Communities The Same?; How Are Communities Different?; Your Community. Produced by ETHOS.

This DVD series is comprised of three programs: The Culture of Mexico; The Geography of Mexico; and The History of Mexico. Mexico is a country of rich national heritage that has influenced the world with its turbulent history, diverse geography and traditional culture. Its history reflects Mexico's struggle for independence in overcoming invasion and control by foreign countries, its struggle for equality for its own individuals within its borders, and the final formation of a nation with its own identity. Mexican geography is defined by landforms, ranging from deserts to tropical rainforests, that have affected the wildlife, industry and settlement of this nation. Mexican culture is a proud mix of ancient customs passed down from its indigenous people and the influence of Spain. It is easy to see why Mexicans are truly proud of their fascinating and beautiful country.

Every October 28th, Tony and his extended Italian family take the ferry to Liberty Island and have a picnic to celebrate the Statue of Liberty's birthday. Tony thinks this yearly outing is dumb because the Statue is not real, but his grandmother responds "She's no alive, but she is certainly real. And so is what she stands for." Tony sees a family who has recently emigrated and is moved by how much the Statue means to them. These new immigrants help Tony understand why his family has a picnic in October every year, and for the first time he joins enthusiastically in their celebrations. Students will understand why people emigrate to other lands to seek a better life. Students will also appreciate the importance of their own family history and traditions.

It's nearing Christmas in a small town in Germany. Hans the shoemaker works into the night, purposely shut away from the holiday festivities around him. Alone in his shop, with no family and few friends, Hans has never learned the true meaning of Christmas. While he mocks the townspeople's merry preparations, Hans is visited by an angel who brings the promise of a very special gift. Hans eagerly awaits the return of this angelic messenger and crafts a gift to give in return – the finest pair of Red Boots ever made. As the story unfolds, Hans learns the joys of sharing and fellowship, and finally embraces the spirit of Christmas as he does indeed receive the ultimate gift – a gift from God. A great program to teach children the true meaning of Christmas.
