Discussion-Guide Studies (no DVD)
Books (no DVD, no discussion guide)

Notes:

- No study will perfectly meet your group's needs, and most studies can be adapted to suit your group's needs. For example, most studies offer more material than there's time to discuss, or include activities that won't interest your group, so pick and choose — omit sections that don't appeal to your group, or add in your own knowledge and study as needed. Depending on the material, you could take two group meetings to discuss one session of the study, or discuss two sessions per week. Use your best judgment, and use the material in the way that best suits your growth in Christlikeness.
- In some cases, reading the original book on which a study is based isn't necessary; your group can have fruitful discussion and growth just discussing the DVD teaching. Reading the original book deepens the study and enriches lives, to be sure, but it's not always necessary. Some groups like to read and do "homework" between group meetings; others don't. Either way is a great way to do a group.
- It's not always necessary for every group member to buy their own copy of the book or discussion guide — if there's one copy for the group leader to use for leading discussion, that often works.
- Feel free to disagree with the teacher! Just because we've purchased a study doesn't necessarily mean we agree with everything they teach.
- Most studies are designed for one- to two-hour sessions. Adapt as needed for how much time your group has.
- The church is happy to order materials for you. The church will cover the cost of leader materials (kits, DVDs, leader guides, leader book) and shipping. We ask participants to pay for their books if they're able. We never want the cost of a book to keep someone from participating in a group, so if someone doesn't have the money this time, it's on us, happily.

Foster, Nathan. The Making of an Ordinary Saint: My Journey from Frustration to Joy with the Spiritual Disciplines. Baker Books, 2014.

- Foreword and reflections by Nathan's dad, Richard J. Foster.
- "More than thirty years after his father's classic book brought them to the masses, Nathan Foster took his own unique path into the spiritual disciplines. As he sought day by day to develop habits that would enable him to live more like Jesus, he encountered problems both universal and personal. Along the way, he found creative new ways to practice the disciplines and discovered that a vital, conversational relationship with God was truly within his grasp. Now he invites you to join him on the journey. You may just find that holy habits are truly possible for all." (back cover)

Foster, Richard J. Celebration of Discipline: The Path to Spiritual Growth. Revised edition. San Francisco: Harper & Row, Publishers, 1988.

Hybels, Bill. Holy Discontent: Fueling the Fire That Ignites Personal Vision. Zondervan, 2007.

- “What is the one aspect of this broken world that, when you see it, touch it, or get near it, you just can’t stand? What reality is so troubling that it thrusts you off the couch and into action? This is what Bill Hybels refers to as holy discontent: a personal ‘firestorm of frustration’ that, although sparked by that which is terribly wrong, can catalyze fierce determination to set things right.... Hybels invites you to consider the dramatic impact your life will have when you willingly convert the frustration of your holy discontent into fuel for changing the world.” (from back cover of book jacket)

- “Are you bedraggled, beat-up, and burnt-out? Most of us believe in God’s grace -- in theory. But somehow we can’t seem to apply it in our daily lives. We continue to see Him as a small-minded bookkeeper, tallying our failures and successes on a score sheet. Yet God gives us His grace, willingly, no matter what we’ve done. We come to Him as ragamuffins -- dirty, bedraggled, and beat-up. And when we sit at His feet, He smiles upon us, the chosen objects of His ‘furious love.’ Brennan Manning’s now-classic meditation on grace and what it takes to access it -- simply honesty -- has changed thousands of lives.” (back cover)
